SUMMARY

Software Engineer with a Bachelor's degree in Mechanical Engineering from Texas A&M University and Full Stack Web Development certification from the University of Texas at Austin. Newly developed skills in multiple programming languages. These skills, coupled with my engineering background, allow me to proficiently develop effective algorithms for solving complex problems. Adept communicator, and skilled in project management. Fast learner, self-starter, and problem solver. I am excited to leverage my engineering experience in a software engineer role to build applications and see projects through to success.
